Uhm...
I've been thinking...
After the exercises, it seemed like Reszurre wanted to say something, so I sat down to talk. A few trivial questions and moments of silence later, she finally steeled her resolve, looked straight at me, and resolutely said:
Y-You always take care of me... and I want to be useful in other ways besides the song...so...
Could I... work with you...at your workshop...?
Hoooosh!!
!!
I've always treated her like a patient, but now that she has recovered and regained some of her self-sufficiency, that sort of treatment might not be appropriate anymore. However...
Res-zurre-san...
That's ...
